Those who witnessed the enthusiasm for Burrows at Decatur, have little doubt who will represent this district in the next congress, and they don't believe it will be Yapple.

In some of his later speeches Yapple is trying to hedge on the wool-tariff question. It is too late. At the very beginning of the campaign he opened his mouth and put his foot in it.

One of the most ludicrous things in connection with the present campaign, is to see men wearing spoons as campaign badges in honor of the very man they once bitterly denounced as a spoon-thief.

Yapple denies having made that statement in reference to the Oliver chilled plow company. A gentleman from that vicinity informs us that he knows Mr. Yapple did make the statement, and that he can prove it.

Mule-buyer Barnum "confidently expects" that the electoral vote of Ohio will be given for Cleveland and Hendricks. It is absolutely astonishing on what a frail basis the democratic party can build a fabric of "Great Expectations."

"I want the farmers of this district to understand what they ask, when they ask me to vote for the restoration of the duty on wool; I DIDN'T DO IT AND BY THE ETERNAL, I NEVER WILL DO IT!"—Congressman Yapple, at Lawrence, Sept. 25.

Though the bolts of democratic slander hurled against Mr. Burrows be never so keenly tipped with democratic venom, they will not serve to turn the voters of this congressional district from their fixed purpose to honor themselves by sending him to represent them in the next congress.

Like causes produce like effects. Frank Hard was the only democratic candidate for congress in Ohio who had the courage of his convictions and dared make an out and out free-trade canvass. The result was that he was beaten in a district that is naturally strongly democratic. The people of this congressional district will follow the example set by the 10th district of Ohio, and elect "that noble young man from Mendon" to stay at home for two years to come.

The Paw Paw Herald says "The voters of Van Buren county, in the northern district want to make no mistake in sending to the state legislature Hon. William H. Hurlbut who has been twice elected," etc. True, and they will not make any such mistake. They will send the republican nominee, Mr. John S. Cross, by a large majority.

Prohibition orators arraign the republican party for not submitting a prohibitory amendment at the last session of our legislature, but none of them are honest enough to state that such submission requires a two-thirds vote of each house. There are 132 members of the legislature, two-thirds of which is 88. The republicans having but 80 members, lacked eight votes of the number required to submit such amendment.

One of the most notable and, for the republican party, one of the most satisfactory and desirable results of the recent republican victory in Ohio, is the defeat of Hurd in the 10th congressional district of that state. Mr. Hurd is one of the most able men in the democratic party, perhaps the most able exponent of free-trade in the country. Two years ago he was elected by a majority of over 5,000 votes. His district is naturally democratic, and in this year of republican success gave to Newman, the head of the democratic state ticket, a majority of 2,077 votes. Mr. Hurd running more than 2,200 votes behind his ticket, which result is attributable solely to his advocacy of free-trade, and not to any lack of ability or popularity. It is said that he will contest the election. There is no doubt that, could such contest be tried by the present house, he would receive his seat, notwithstanding his rejection by the people of his district. No congress ever sat in the capitol of the nation that committed such open, brazen frauds, or manifested such shameless partisanship in unseating members fairly elected, as has the present congress. Its utter disregard of right and justice in this respect has already met with merited rebuke, and it will be still further rebuked at the election yet to come. It is not only possible, but probable, that such contest, if made, will be decided by a republican instead of a democratic house of representatives, in which case Mr. Hurd could not depend on the voice of the people being thwarted in his behalf. He could expect and would receive simple justice, only this and nothing more.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Waverly, Oct. 16th, 1884.

EDITOR TRUE NORTHERNER:
I desire to say a few words in explanation of the position I am forced to take at the approaching election. In 1840 I cast my first vote for Wm. H. Harrison, the whig nominee for president, and I remained with the whigs until the birth of the republican party. I voted for John C. Fremont, and was a staunch republican from that time until 1880, when I voted for J. B. Weaver, the greenback candidate. I believed if the principles of that party, as laid down in their platform, could prevail, it would be a blessing to this nation, to the poor as well as the rich. I stand to-day just as firmly upon that platform, and by those principles, as I did when I was elected a justice of the peace by the greenback party. But, like brother Slater, I did not join the greenbackers to be delivered over to the party that has so recently tried to destroy the government, nor do I propose to help, in any way, to strengthen the old Bourbon party.

With brother Crane, I will say "It is one thing to sell and another to deliver the goods." You can lead a horse to water, but can you make him drink? I am not yet prepared to vote the democratic ticket, nor to help support a rebel general for next to the highest office in the nation.

Brother Greenbackers, fusion is a deadly up-as-tree that is growing in the ranks of the greenback party. As well might the Savior have expected to gain power by fusing with the evil one who took him upon the mountain-top and said "All this will I give you," etc., as for the greenback party to see their "heaven-born" principles enlighten this nation by a fusion with democrats. The Savior said "Get thee behind me, Satan," and had the greenback party done likewise, it would to-day have a bright prospect of victory, instead of annihilation.

Brother Greenbackers, the party has left me; not me the party.

JACOB HUNGERFORD.

Reasons Why.

As I have been quoted and misquoted, I feel it but just that I should give to the public some facts, and my views on the temperance question which is being agitated throughout the country.

I indorse the principles, but not the methods, put forward by the controlling element of the prohibition branch in this county, because of their real object which will hereafter appear. The prohibitory amendment to our state constitution should be submitted to a direct vote of the people at the earliest date, therefore, I most heartily indorse the submission clause in the republican state platform—the other great party of parties being silent. To aid in making this plank effective I consented to act on the prohibition county committee, and am ready and anxious to adopt all honorable means to attain the desired end. As a delegate in the republican representative convention, I labored to secure a nominee who is a prohibitionist beyond doubt. We find all for which any prohibitionist asks in the republican nominee, Mr. Parkhurst. Every voter in this district who believes in submitting to the people the prohibitory amendment, should support Mr. Parkhurst. He is not a non-committal candidate, but, on the contrary, he is an out-spoken and zealous temperance worker. His life for the past twenty years has been consistent with the principles of temperance reform. Mr. Parkhurst was a good enough prohibitionist to be placed on the prohibition ticket to represent "us" in the next legislature, (where the first steps must be taken toward submission), provided, however, he step down and out of the republican party and unite with "our" party. I regard him as being too earnest in the temperance cause to jeopardize it by assisting a new party pretending to carry out principles borrowed from his own, which would, in effect, divide the temperance vote and defeat both, while the opposition would elect their man and thus postpone temperance reform. I labored either to have Mr. Parkhurst induced, or to leave that office blank, but that would not answer: "This party does not propose to indorse any party's candidate. But, at their convention on Oct. 4th, they indorsed two of the fusion candidates, only two! I stated to the chairman that it looked more and more as though the object sought was not to secure temperance reform in this state, but to defeat the republican party, especially in this county. On being assured that I had rightly judged, I told him plainly that I advocated temperance reform from principle only, not from policy, or to further any undermining scheme. I was compelled by this interpretation to inform the chairman that my labors as committee-man were at an end, and this is the reason why I am no longer a member of the committee. The shrewdest fusionists are highly pleased with the new ticket in the field, which means something. They favor it and will do so, except with their votes which will, in nearly every case, be cast for their fusion candidate.

I have been asked by one of our strongest temperance advocates to support Mr. Isaac Monroe as being in favor of prohibition, at the same time admitting him, to a prohibitionist, to be silent on the temperance question. This is too shallow for a second thought.

When a party in its platform declares in favor of submission, and men are nominated who are in full sympathy with it, they should receive the temperance support; while, on the other hand, should one, by hook or by crook, get on the ticket who is not in full sympathy with the platform he assumes to indorse, then I consider it the duty of all to check such things at the first opportunity. Let the office seek the man, not the man the office. From a prohibitionist's standpoint to allow two candidates to run for the legislature or any other position, who are in favor of submission, against one who is silent on the subject, is to me, the height of folly, while the prohibitionists have the balance of power and, when united, could elect the stronger temperance candidate or defeat the other extreme. Why antagonize any party which holds out the same declaration of purposes and is striving to effectuate the same? Aid when its man is right and oppose when wrong, and the leaders in the different parties would soon be with us in securing the nomination of the right man for the place. Ponder these things.

In conclusion, I do not wish any one to indorse one word I have written if it is not sound reasoning, but I do ask all temperance people to candidly study all points touching upon temperance reform. We must take things as we find them and try to make the most of them. We must be independent thinkers, for to the independent thinker and voter, backed by honest motives, I look for the future purity and success of American politics.

Athlophoros

ATHLOPHOROS is a novel word to most people who speak the English language. The word is used in connection with the prize "THE PRIZE-BEARER."
ATHLOPHOROS is the first and only medicine which has carried off the prize as the perfect remedy for Rheumatism and Neuralgia.
Like two relentless tyrants they have for ages held their suffering victims in an iron grip. These poor sufferers have been slaves in the power of their oppressors.
ATHLOPHOROS has entered the arena, engaged in conflict with the monsters, and won the victory. As the competitors in the Grecian games of old could win only by the most severe trials of ability and endurance, so ATHLOPHOROS has won the prize, not alone by giving temporary relief, but by bringing an enduring cure, as well, to those who have suffered the excruciating agonies of Rheumatism and Neuralgia.

ATHLOPHOROS is a novelty, not only in name, but in its elements. It is unlike any preparation yet introduced.
ATHLOPHOROS acts on the blood, muscles and joints, removing the poison and acid from the blood, carries them out of the system.
ATHLOPHOROS is put up with consummate skill, and contains nothing that can possibly harm the most delicate constitution.
Now, do you want to suffer on and on? Or do you want to be well?

"Athlophoros" WILL Cure You!

If you cannot get ATHLOPHOROS of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us as directed.
